BRIDAL GUIDE

From Diane's Desk

July 21, 2010

Designed to Please

If you're like many couples who just can't seem to agree on how your new home should be decorated then you'll love this ingenious new website created by Monique Breaux, an award-winning designer and owner of Posh Exclusive Interiors. Over the years Ms. Breaux has decorated private estates, luxury resorts, yachts, jets and five-star restaurants. But now, you, too, can reap the benefits of Monique Breaux's talents by visiting BuyPOSHrooms.com, a website she created to take the guesswork—and expense—out of decorating.

On BuyPOSHrooms.com, Monique created 13 completely coordinated living room options that range in price from $6,699 to $10,999 and 7 bedroom options ranging in price from $4,299 to $6,999. Keep in mind that these prices include everything from the couch to the chairs, the bed, nesting tables, rug, desks, art and lamps—you name it. Pretty remarkable when you consider just how much each piece would cost at retail and how quickly those prices add up. I've been amazed myself at the high prices of some furnishings. Plus, my head starts to spin as I try to figure out just what works with what and where can I cut back and save without the whole room looking as if it's filled with garage sale remnants!

So, put down those swatches, put your mind at rest and take a look at some of these beautifully decorated rooms. Just think: No more arguing over the color and style of the couch, chair, rugs, lamps or any other piece of décor. It's all been taken care of by an expert for you to enjoy in your new home!
