Decked out in nesting tables by designer Monique Breaux and fragrant floral arrangements by Mark Rose, the apartment of Marcia and Richard Mishaan filled with friends and family as they honored Harold S. Koplewicz, MD, Brooke Garber Neidich, and the establishment of The Child Study Center. The evening's cocktail reception also celebrated the new green residences developed by Greystone Property Development.

Champagne glasses clinked and hors d'oeuvres courtesy of David Ziff Cooking were devoured as guests intermingled and admired the sleek and stylish interior design of the residence. Afterward, attendees went home carrying bags stuffed with a copy of Mishaan's book, Modern Luxury, as well as gifts from John Mahdessian's Madame Paulette and Tracy Stern's SALONTEA Teabar.

The Child Study Center Foundation is a non-profit organization focused on advancing mental health treatment for children worldwide, so that they may reach their full potential. Hosts for the evening also announced the Adam Jeffery Katz Memorial Lecture, a public education program featuring a conversation between iconic actor, Orlando Bloom, and Dr. Harold Koplewicz, which will take place June 2 of this year.
